1. Place the AquaOasis™ base into the bucket with the water inlet tube base hole to the front and the bucket handle to the rear.

2. Insert the water inlet tube into the AquaOasis™ base. Ensure the inlet tube supply holes are placed to the bottom of the bucket and inside the water reservoir.

3. Place and position the short end of the wick into the AquaOasis™ base center chamber and add one shovel scoop of moist potting soil. Tap the dirt around the wick with medium pressure.

Hint: Moisten soil prior to assembly.

4. Add more potting soil and position the wicks in a spiral clockwise fashion up the inside of the bucket. Ensure the ends of the wicks are placed so they are down slightly for optimal siphoning of water. Complete and fill bucket with soil up to two inches from the top of the bucket.

5. Plant your desired plant into the soil. Water the top of the soil first! Then water the AquaOasis™ via the water inlet tube until the water expels from the overflow hole out the side of the bucket. Repeat when necessary. Watering frequency will vary depending on outside temperature and humidity; location; plant type and stage of growth; type of soil and medium used. Bucket lid can be placed under the bucket and used as a water catch tray.
